NO MAN IS STRONGER THAN HIS STOMACH.

Let the greatest athlete have dyspepsia and his muscles would soon fail. Physical strength is derived from food. If a man has insufficient food he loses strength. If he has no food he dies. Food is converted into nutrition through the stomach and bowels. It depends on the strength of the stomach to what extent food is digested and assimilated. People can die of starvation who have abundant food to eat, when the stomach and its associated organs of digestion and nutrition do not perform their duty. Thus the stomach is really the vital organ of the body. If the stomach is "weak" the body will be weak also, because it is upon the stomach the body relies for its strength. And as the body, considered as a whole, is made up of its several members and organs, so the weakness of the body as a consequence of "weak" stomach will be distributed among the organs which compose the body. If the body is weak because it is ill-nourished, that physical weakness will be found in all the organs—heart, liver, kidneys, etc. The liver will be torpid and inactive, giving rise to biliousness, loss of appetite, weak nerves, feeble or irregular action of heart, palpitation, dizziness, headache, backache and kindred disturbances and weakness.

Mr. Louis P. P. of Quebec writes: "For years after my health began to fail, my head grew dizzy, eyes pained me, and my stomach was sore. I ate and drank everything, but would not eat more than I could get down. I was weak and nervous, and although I took my medicine regularly yet I felt no better. My wife advised me to try Dr. Pierce's Medical Discovery—and stop taking the doctor's medicine. She bought me a bottle and we soon found that I began to improve. I kept on the treatment. I took on flesh, my stomach became normal, the digestive organs worked perfectly and I soon began to look like a different person. I can never cease to be grateful for what your medicine has done for me and I certainly give it highest praise." Don't be wheedled by a penny-grabbing dealer into taking inferior substitutes for Dr. Pierce's medicines, recommended to be "just as good."

To gain knowledge of your own body—in sickness or in health—write for the People's Common Sense Medical Adviser. A book of 1008 pages. Sent 21 one-cent stamps for paper-covered, or 31 stamps for cloth-bound copy. Address Dr. J. C. Pierce, 663 Main Street, Buffalo, N. Y.

198 West Broadway, New York, Oct. 3, 1902. Having been a sufferer from Dyspepsia for many years, which would not yield to the treatment of several physicians, I had become almost convinced that I was destined to become a chronic invalid, when a friend gave me a bottle of your cure, and during one of my bad spells I tried it in desperation, not having the least faith in it, but very much to my surprise felt relief almost immediately, and could not now be induced to live without having a bottle in the house. Very truly yours, L. P. WHITMAN.
